

AIR CONDITIONING ENGINEER

The Eyre Group are a leading regional Air Conditioning and M&E Contractor with busy offices located in Norwich and Cambridge.

We are currently looking to recruit an Air Conditioning Engineer who will be based at our Norwich Branch. We are a growing department and require highly motivated and skilled individuals to join our successful team.

Experience within the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration industry is a must and all applicants will be assessed based on their experience, skills, knowledge and application.

We require that all candidates have a current Full Driving Licence, CSCS Skills Card, C&G 2079 Cat 1 as a minimum, any other industry specific qualifications would be advantageous.

The successful candidate will be joining a highly motivated and aspirational company, and will benefit from a very competitive package including, pension scheme, use of company van for business use including commuting, mobile phone, tablet, enhanced holiday entitlement and good rates of pay. The work that you will mostly be undertaking will be reactive and planned service and maintenance. You may need to carry out/assist with installations from time to time. You would be part of an 'on call Rota', allowing us to offer out of hours response to emergency breakdowns.

The role is full time and offered on a permanent basis.

We look forward to hearing from you
